PERSONAL MENTION

The Baptist church plans to have a Christmas tree for all of its members included in the Primary, Beginners and Junior Department, on the night of December 25.

'Newly Weds' used to tell you who was being mentioned but Appomattox ladies have become so proficient in the art of angling that we have to be more explicit. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Poe are making their home in Mrs. T. J. Harvey's cottage.

Appomattox town tags are just like 'City' ones now, we are right proud of them but it may be harder to convince Lynchburg cops that "We're from the country."

Both local banks have mailed out their Christmas Saving checks and some accounts next year have already been started.

The store windows bespeak the coming holiday. Some represent Toytown, and all give evidence that Santa hasn't waited for the depression to be over before making his gifts.

Mrs. W. T. Johns returned Sunday after visiting friends in Roanoke and Lynchburg.

The Masonic Lodge elected officers at their last meeting.

Harold Spencer, and Col. Jo. el Flood "did themselves proud"—they added up their lists of friends, bought a lot of food, borrowed a bell and some candles and had a "Big Party" Friday night at Hotel Appomattox. Watt Stanley and Miss Edith Mann Barke got the best prize but Lucy Evans and Sam Ferguson said the 'Booby' was worth playing for. Those that didn't get any prizes liked the decorations, the food and the good time.

Scouts Have Sale

Girl Scouts of Appomattox will hold a bazaar Saturday from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m. at Dr. Chas. F. James' drug store. The bazaar will be for the benefit of the scouts and will offer for sale all sorts of handwork.

Only 6 more shopping days before Christmas.

Tells Of Batteries

"Making surveys of this and that seems quite a fashion nowadays", said H. M. Burge, local Exide Dealer, "but much information of practical value can be obtained.

"For instance," he continued, "a survey was made by the manufacturers of Exide batteries to find out approximately how many times a year the average motorist calls on his battery to start his car.

"The information obtained was highly interesting. It was found that the average was 2,200 times a year. That means that the average automobile battery discharges current at a high rate this number of times depending of course on the use to which the car is put by its owner.

"In cold weather,' Mr. Burge continued, "the engine in harder to turn and the efficiency of any battery, regardless of its make, is lower. Accordingly a battery that has been working all right during the warm weather may not be in condition to stand an increased load with lowered efficiency.

"Battery inspection at this time is good insurance against unexpected battery failure this winter."

The world is now experiencing the shortest days of the year. From December 14 until the end of the month afternoons will get one minute longer every other day, and will be one-half hour longer by January 20.

Better Breakfasts

DAUGHTERS-IN-LAW will be interested in a discussion by Dr. Thurman Bliss A.M., M.D. Associate Professor of Bacteriology and Public Health, Indiana University School of Medicine, of the "hasty breakfast" versus the one "the mother used to make."

"The 'hasty Breakfast' of modern times has come in for a great deal of criticism," Dr. Thurman says, "while that 'like mother used to make' is popularly believed to be ideal. Rather the contrary is really true. The old time morning meal consisted usually of black coffee, hot bread of some sort, cured meat with gravy, fried potatoes, preserves, jam or heavy syrup—and it admitted of as many fat variations.

"All hasty breakfasts, however, are not 'model. Dr. Thurman states. We suggest above a breakfast devised by a graduate dietitian, and if the apples are mixed the day before, it is a hasty as well as a model breakfast.

Spanish Omelet: To two tablespoons olive oil, add two slices of sliced onion, one half green pepper sliced, the contents of one 4-ounce can of mushrooms which have been drained and sliced; cook gently for five minutes. Then add the contents of one 16-ounce can of tomatoes, season highly with salt and pepper and cook for five to ten minutes to reduce the bulk. Spread over a six-egg omelet, fold over and turn out onto a hot platter. Serve at once. This serves six persons."

Commissions Prepare Legislative Projects

Already Looking To Next Session Of Legislature

(Special to Times-Virginian)

Richmond, Dec. 9—Major legislative and executive committees and commissions, chosen by the last General Assembly or named by the governor, are actively engaged in and about the State Capitol formulating their reports which are soon to be submitted to Governor Pollard and transmitted by the executive before the approaching session of the State law-makers.

Final action by the State Budget Committee must be predicated largely upon reports from State departments and institutions, when checked up by its own findings in direct investigations. This body, accompanied by Governor Pollard, has visited all of the State institutions and has labored at times until very much into the wee hours in efforts to adjust State expenses and State revenues.

The Commission on County Government, which is a permanent body, has completed its sittings held both at Richmond and at Charlottesville, and has sent its report to the printer. The work of this commission is regarded as of a most important nature and its report, when released, will be given the widest publicity. Governor Pollard is deeply interested in the findings and recommendations of this body.

The Commission on Revision and Codification of the Election Laws is sitting at Richmond. The question of the absent voter's ballot is one of the latest to be considered and discussed by the commission.

The Commission to Study the Forestry Conditions of Virginia has held several public and executive sessions. A tentative copy of its report is now being prepared by Chairman C. H. Morrissett.

The Commission on Uniformity of Regulation of Motor Vehicle Registration and Traffic and Tax on Motor Vehicle Fuel has about completed its sittings, as has also the Commission to Study Safety Codes, the Commission to Study Criminal Costs, that having under consideration the State College for Women, and several others.

Governor Pollard will soon begin active work on his message to the Legislature, and is now actively engaged in reviewing reports from such commissions as have concluded their activities. The General Assembly will sit at Richmond regular biennial session on January 13, a little more than one month from this date.

King Winter Puts In Belated Appearance Tuesday Night

King Winter, accompanied by his white-browed henchmen, Snow and Sleet, swooped down on this section Tuesday and left a combination of lacy-trimmed trees and countryside, slippery roads, frozen radiators, wet feet and hilarious children. Hopes for a white Christmas, long held in abeyance, broke out afresh and everyone began to take seriously the matter of getting ready for Santa Claus.

Travel on the highways was hazardous, but few accidents were reported. The sleet and cold spell came in the midst of hog-killing time and found everyone busy.

It was the first real cold spell of the year and was welcome by merchants as a boost to business. Local merchants yesterday expressed themselves as well pleased with trade so far and look for another big day Saturday.

M. Casy. Mr. Accisini wishes his friends to know he will offer the high class entertainment, as he did while winning these thousands of friends. It can truthfully be said of Warner Bros. Trenton Theatre 'A local institution', in view of the fact that the Warner Brothers were natives of Lynchburg, and the theatre manager himself is a Lynchburger.

Decision Given Dillwyn Bank Case By Judge

Judge Hutchinson has just rendered his opinion in the case of Merchant and Planters Bank vs. the First National Bank of Dillwyn, in which he held that the Merchant and Planters Bank was entitled to recover $32,000 from the other bank. This decision will also carry a judgement of $20,000 against the directors who signed an idemnifying bond of $20,000 in favor of the plantiff. However, this $20,000 is a part of the $32,000.

It is expected that the stock holders of the First National Bank will be called upon to make good this judgement. This case has attracted interest locally as many prominent people of this county are connected with the two banks.
